

This is a complete joke. XM is no different than getting premium cable, you are going to get different things than you will on regular programing. The FCC is a complete joke if they follow through with this, after all they completely messed up the situations with Howard Stern as well as the super bowl.